

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY LAW ENFORCEMENT AND DETENTION FACILITIES

INTRODUCTION

The following report highlights the inspections made by the 2004-2005 Grand Jury of the police departments, Sheriff's Stations and detention facilities within Santa Barbara County. Under California Penal Code 919(b), the Jury is mandated to inquire into the conditions and management of all detention facilities.

These facilities are grouped into four areas of operation: Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Department Custody Facilities, Municipal Police Departments, Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Stations, as well as the County Probation Department Facilities. (Federal facilities are not included in this report.)

METHOD OF INQUIRY

The Grand Jury visited each of the facilities listed in this report in the fall of 2004 and the new Santa Maria Juvenile Hall in early 2005. Deputies, police officials and staff on site at the time of the visits were interviewed and each facility was inspected by two or more members of the Jury. All Jury observations are as of the time of our visits.

OBSERVATIONS

Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Department Custody Facilities

Facility	Condition/Management	Jury Comments
Main Jail <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 618 Beds • 68 Floor Mats • 93 Correctional Officers 	The Jury observed an overcrowded condition with inmates sleeping on mats on the floor. Correctional officers organize the population into groups to minimize possibly dangerous interactions between inmates.	This Jury recognizes the challenges this overcrowded condition has created and commends the staff on the professional manner in which they handle a changing and potentially volatile population. See Special Report No Vacancy

Facility	Condition/Management	Jury Comments
Men's Honor Farm <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 122 Beds • 18 Correctional Officers • Located at the back of the Main Jail • Minimum Security 	The facility was crowded (all bunks were full), but quiet and organized. It had well-equipped education centers with up-to-date computers. The outdoor area is used for exercising and as a perk for good behavior.	Those assigned to the Honor Farm are required to work either on site or at other county facilities during their incarceration. They may also participate in education and treatment programs.
Women's Honor Farm <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 39 Beds • 2 Female Correctional Officers • Located next to the Men's Honor Farm • Minimum Security 	This facility was organized, quiet, and not as crowded as the men's area. The area was kept neat and clean, inside and out, by the inmates.	The Honor Farm is a positive place for those who earn recognition for good behavior. Education and work training offered to inmates allow for a more successful rehabilitation.
Court Holding Facility Figueroa Street <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 8 Cells • 7 Correctional Officers, three to five per shift • Female officer on duty when female inmates present • Located in basement of the Superior Court Building 	The holding facility can accommodate up to 100 inmates daily awaiting court appearance. All cells were full at the time of our inspection. Some inmates were handcuffed outside cells for safety as well as overcrowding reasons. Prisoners were orderly and organized into cells based on the crimes committed and ability to get along with others. Video surveillance is used to monitor detainees. The facility was clean and well-run.	Sheriff's deputies are well-trained and do a good job of managing a diverse and sometimes dangerous population contained in a small area.
Santa Maria Holding Facility Class 1 Branch Jail (96 hour hold only) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 35 Beds • 3 Correctional Officers are on duty 24/7 • Located in same facility as the Santa Maria Sheriff's Station 	The facility appears to be well run. One female officer is required when female detainees are present.	This facility is used to hold inmates for court appearances in North County. The facility is also used to house newly arrested inmates.

Santa Barbara County has four cities that contract law enforcement services with the Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Department: Carpinteria, Goleta, Buellton and Solvang. Contract cities choose to pay for Sheriff's Department Deputies to enforce the law within their city limits in lieu of establishing their own police departments. These departments will be covered under the Sheriff's Department Stations section below. Of the four, Carpinteria is the only one to formerly have had a police department; the other three have always contracted with the County for protection. Contracting with the County saves the city money and ensures the city the expertise from a large and experienced department, especially in the case of a major crime.

An increased presence of State Alcohol Beverage Control officers underscores the seriousness of the problem. Halloween is the most volatile time, when approximately 50,000 students and outsiders congregate in the area to celebrate. During this time, Patrol brings in an estimated 120 law
